

Wisconsin Handweavers, Inc. Presents

Kutch Supplemental Design

with Master weaver Pachan Premji
And Judy Frater, Kutch textile expert
Presented by Textiles Live LLC www.textileslive.com

Learn from a Master as you explore a unique Indian weaving tradition.

Tuesday, November 12, 2024, 9:30 – 4:00
at Mount Carmel Church 8424 W. Center Street, Milwaukee

Workshop cost: $80.00 for WHI members, $125.00 for non-members. Participants will receive instructions for warping their own 4-shaft loom before the workshop. Experience Level: Beginner and above. You must be able to warp your own loom.

Pachan is a graduate of a design program founded by Judy Frater. His weaving skills and imagination have brought him opportunities to work with designers, scholars, and customers from all over the world. In this workshop he will teach traditional Kutch supplemental weft designs, using a technique that combines loom control and finger manipulation. Once you have the concept, you can design your own motifs and use them to embellish your work. This is an opportunity to be introduced to a unique Indian tradition and learn from a master.

Registration closes October 12 or when a maximum enrollment of 10 people is reached. WHI offers scholarships for all workshops. For scholarship or workshop information contact Paula Holman, 414-324-4170 or holmanpk@yahoo.com.
